The all-day Writing Loft Boot Camp is coming!

The Writing Loft Boot Camp is an intensive, highly enjoyable one-day training program. You'll learn how to produce writing material that is not only publishable, but work that actually sells. You'll work hard but learn more about yourself and writing than you thought possible.

A writer's job is to influence what a reader thinks and feels—to elicit an emotional response from the reader. If you don't know how to predict and control a reader's response, you need this boot camp. We'll help you identify your strengths and weaknesses, then how to build on what's good and eliminate what isn't.

This boot camp is all about you and making you the best writer you can be. Our boot campers say it is the most productive six hours of their writing careers.
